

The Potion is Actually . . .

Tired of potions being little vials of liquid? Roll here:

- 1 Slow fuses to be placed in beard and hair
- 2 a candle worn on the body
- 3 Moths released from a gourd, effect lasts as long as one can still be seen
- 4 a ruby clutched becomes hotter and hotter, if dropped effect ends
- 5 a small fish that must be consumed live
- 6 a fairy in aspic
- 7 a silk sash, when removed it crumbles to dust
- 8 an herbal cigar
- 9 a teetotum made from a single tooth
- 10 an air-tight jar with a white rose that shrivels in the air
- 11 a fishy liquid poured over clothes and hair, effect ends when it dries
- 12 a dried mushroom
- 13 a cylindrical clockwork, twisted it slowly twists back to break, then the effect ends
- 14 a pouch of powder, cut open-- effect begins, powder gone-- effect ends
- 15 a bamboo cage with fighting crickets, partition removed-- effect begins
- 16 a cask of liquid that must be completely consumed
- 17 a thorny shoot of berries that must be eaten from continuously to gain effect
- 18 a grey snake is made to bite a golden-furred mouse, when the mouse dies the effect ends
- 19 a vial of tiny eyes
- 20 a glass figurine shattered for the effect
- 21 Small fuzzy fruit that must be consumed fresh
- 22 a longship modeled in ice, floated on liquid-- effect begins, lasts until it melts
- 23 a cocoon, when heated turns into a transparent butterfly
- 24 a lump of black tar with bits of glass that must be consumed
- 25 a bottle rocket
- 26 a ginger bread diorama with roaches-- must be consumed
- 27 a blazingly hot pepper
- 28 Dwarven sausage
- 29 a flute, played continuously to gain effect
- 30 a pumpkin sized egg to be cracked open